Satire and Religion

• . . . I like good-humoured satire, Max Ferguson, for example, heard weekdays, 8:35 a.m., Monday to Friday, and Saturday evenings at 9:30 p.m. on CBC Radio) but the Quest program The Living Premise (Tuesday, October 22, on CBC-TV) was partly distasteful. I certainly have no quarrel with the satire on race prejudice but feel that religion should not be held up to ridicule. As a Christian, I feel our religion is sacred and should not be a proper subject for satire. Entertainment should not be degrading but uplifting.

—N.N., Castor, Alta.

CFL Football Coverage

• On behalf of the nation's football fans I wish to protest in the strongest terms the haphazard and sloppy coverage of this year's football games. I am a solid CBC supporter but your football coverage as far as the camera work is concerned is simply dreadful.

In your coverage there are shots of the crowd, the benches, and the minute flag, and all sorts of other trivia, yet key plays are far too often missed. The problem is obvious: the switching from the ground level to booth level is poor. Television can cover football well as seen through high level cameras. It is ruined by ground level shots. A well-placed kick of the useless field level lens is needed. . . .

—S.J.R.C., Strathmore, Alta.

Explorations

• It is with disappointment that I write this letter concerning your scheduling of the program Explorations to have been seen on television at 10:30 p.m., Monday, October 21.

I find it strange and disturbing that a program involving a Saskatchewan town, Kamsack, should have been scheduled per the CBC Times to be seen over only two channels (CFQC-TV in Saskatoon and CJFB-TV in Swift Current) in the whole of this province. Surely, if such a program is of interest anywhere in Canada, a very great interest would exist in Saskatchewan.

Then, as if to add insult to injury, without any prior notice CFQC-TV in Saskatoon replaced this program with . . . a poor, mediocre, and ridiculous substitute. It is to be hoped that at least CJFB-TV in Swift Current had sufficient discriminating taste to carry Explorations as scheduled.

Undoubtedly your plea will be that independent stations affiliated with the CBC are not obligated to carry all of the CBC productions. This then signals the great need for a CBC television station in Saskatchewan. I for one hope that there will be the least amount of delay in the provision of same.

EXPLORATIONS is not scheduled in a network reserved time period, and therefore is optional for affiliated stations. Most affiliates have committed this period to another program series, and would not be able to substitute a program from the EXPLORATIONS series, however interesting, without breaking contracts they have signed.

Our scheduling of EXPLORATIONS on CFQC-TV, Saskatoon in this instance was an error caused by late arrival of programming information from that station. The program seen instead was part of a regularly-scheduled series on that station.

Horizon

• I would like to comment on the program Horizon which was telecast at 10:00 p.m. on Sunday, October 27. This program was one of the very best that I have ever seen on television. It was extremely interesting.

My question is why don't you put the good programs like this on earlier so that the children can watch them? Most people I am sure are sick of westerns and murders at the children's hours. Please give us more thought-provoking, scientific, and documentary programs. . . .

—T.B., Calgary.

• After having just seen the one hour program Denizens of the Deep on Horizon on Sunday, October 27, I feel that the CBC should be commended on this excellent report. As a Grade 8 teacher I could not help but think what an aid this program would have been to my science class. . . .

—R.T., Teulon, Man.

Viewpoint on Bi-Culturalism

• I was shocked when you forced Mr. Rene Levesque, the anti-Canadian, but pro-Quebecois on to us in bringing to us a French drama. (Festival, Le Medicin Malgre Lui, Oct. 30.)

His place on this program was ridiculous; imagine Premier Manning introducing a Western drama on the French network. CBC would find this intolerable. If Mr. Levesque had anything to say it should have been strictly limited to drama, and not his views on bi-culturalism. . . .

I frequently listen to Channel 6, CBWFT, Winnipeg but I expect to have the rules of broadcasting obeyed. Channel 3, CBWT, Winnipeg is English and Channel 6 is French.

—H.J.W., Winnipeg.

Red River Jamboree

• Regarding Red River Jamboree on October 30. This was the most pleasing and delightful show that I have ever seen. Canadian television this year is much superior to that of the United States. Tonight's Jamboree was well arranged and everyone concerned should be complimented. Best regards and good luck.

—M.J.H.M., Barrie, Ont.

Hosts New Public Affairs Show

FRANK McGEE, appointed to the cabinet as minister without portfolio just before the last federal election, now a political reporter for the Toronto Daily Star, is host of CBC-TV's new public affairs program, The Sixties, seen Sundays.

The half-hour series from Ottawa "reflects the restlessness" of this decade and features leaders of industry and the professions from Canada, the U.S. and Europe.

Mr. McGee, born and educated in Ottawa, was first elected to the House of Commons in 1957. He was re-elected in 1958 and in 1962. The latter year also saw him appointed as parliamentary secretary to the minister of citizenship and immigration.

A NEW MUSICAL GROUP assembled to play some very old music makes its debut Tuesday on CBC Radio's Prairie Chamber Music (10:05 p.m.). The Christine Mather Consort of Ancient Instruments performs a varied program of Middle Ages and Renaissance compositions, much of which will be unfamiliar to the audience because it is written for instruments no longer in common use.

The instruments used by the group are replicas of those for which the compositions were written, constructed by skilled craftsmen who have researched extensively into the specifications of the original instruments. Winnipeg bassoonist Christine Mather, who lends her name to the group, describes it as follows:

The consort has been formed, on the lines of the Pro Musica Antiqua of New York, to play music of the 1200-1700 period, in particular the Middle Ages and Renaissance, which embraces a vast literature of music largely unknown to modern audiences. We will play this music on instruments sounding as nearly as possible like those of the age in which it was written.

Accurate reproductions are made of many musical instruments from medieval times onwards, among them the Krummhorn, an instrument not unlike the bagpipe chanter, with a rather nasal, humming tone. Krummhorns first appeared about 1500; they were made in several sizes and were very popular as consort instruments in the 16th and 17th centuries—Henry VIII had several sets of them.

The familiar recorders are, like the Krummhorns, important consort instruments. The name "recorder" appears first (Please turn to page 25)

DOLPHIN?

Serious-minded scientists think we may be able to crack the language barrier with the animal kingdom. SOUNDINGS, Thursday, November 28, on CBC Radio, covers the subject.

A MAN AND A dolphin meeting poolside to discuss politics, philosophy, or bringing up junior? . . . Not as far-fetched as it sounds. The smartest creature in the world, aside from man, is the dolphin, and recent extensive scientific research has revealed that this ingenious sea-going mammal may have a recognizable and highly complicated language, and that man may be able to communicate verbally with it in the not-too-distant future.

Dr. John C. Lilly, a Florida neurophysicist who has spent eight years studying and trying to converse with bottle-nosed dolphins, has found that they have bigger brains than humans, as complicated a cerebral cortex (the powerhouse of the higher mental functions), can imitate man's spoken comments in a sort of Donald Duck voice, even adopting subtle inflections, such as a Southern drawl. They learn the tactics and rules of water polo quickly, and, with only one demonstration, can memorize the workings of a complicated apparatus, and operate it, at least 12 times faster than chimpanzees and even faster than some humans.

Dolphins talk to each other in sharp whistles, slow clicks, and complex bursts of quacks, squawks and blats, mostly in higher frequencies than man can hear clearly. Their speech organs are at the top of their heads, under their blowholes. Among dolphin phrases Dr. Lilly has learned is their Mayday distress signal, and their attention call, or here-I-am recognition word. He has recorded many of their sounds and fed them into a computer to sift them for a pattern.

While dolphins have learned to imitate human words, usually they can't understand the right word in the right situation. Dr. Lilly feels confident that this will be overcome. Because dolphins talk to each other they might be interested in learning a second language. The next step would be teaching them inflections to convey meaning, followed by conversations in English, and possibly even discussion of abstract ideas. Even if this takes 20 years, Dr. Lilly intends to persist. "They may be a group with whom we can learn basic techniques of communicating with really alien intelligent life forms," he says. The dolphin operates in an environment perhaps as strange to humans as that of Mars, so the tiniest clue to the way it thinks

A special program Tuesday, November 26, studies some of the organizations that are carrying out protests against nuclear war. Under the title DOCUMENT: The Peacemakers it is the seventh in a series on matters of public concern.

Document:

The Peacemakers

BAN-THE-BOMB demonstrators march from Aldermaston to London; a couple of thousand Japanese students scuffle with police during an anti-nuclear protest rally; a Canadian scientist solicits funds to establish peace research institutes; groups of normally law-abiding-people are carried off by police for indulging in "civil disobedience." These are all manifestations of the same basic idea: that nuclear war is insane and must be abolished.

A study of some of the organizations involved in anti-nuclear activities, and the views of some of the major spokesmen for the cause, will be presented this week on The Peacemakers, the first of CBC Television's Document public affairs specials of this season. The program, to be seen Tuesday, November 26, at 9:30 p.m., is the seventh in the Document series of actuality reports on subjects of vital public concern. Document will telecast six one-hour specials this season, on a variety of topics. The Peacemakers was written, produced and directed by Allan King, photographed by Richard Leiterman, and edited by William Brayne. Executive producer of the series is Douglas Leiterman.

Host and interviewer of this week's program is John Freeman, the distinguished editor of London's New Statesman, perhaps known best to television audiences through his widely acclaimed work as interviewer on the BBC television series, Face to Face.

The Peacemakers begins with this assumption: The nuclear systems of the West poise the destructive equivalent of seven tons of TNT for every man, woman and child on this planet. The Soviets have roughly equal power forces. The threat posed by these vast nuclear capacities is the dominant issue of our times.

"We all want peace," says director Allan King. "But most people see no logical escape from the Cold War—the philosophy that our security is dependent on a military system strong enough to deter any aggressor. Most public debate is confined within this logic. But for minority, the 'peacemakers,' this logic is unacceptable. On moral grounds they say it is wrong to kill, that violence begets violence, that those who live by the sword will perish by the sword. On practical grounds they say that a security system of mutual suicide is no security at all."

The peace movements offer a bewildering variety of alternatives. The Document program attempts a fresh evaluation of what they have to offer, as East and West take their first tentative steps to limit the arms race.

The movement splits sharply into two schools:

How are Things With HENRY MANCINI?

NOT LONG AGO Henry Mancini, a quiet, rather diffident man of 39, met a former schoolmate who slapped him on the back and burred: "Hank Mancini, you old son-of-a-gun! What are you doing these days?" Chuckling inwardly, Mancini mumbled that he was eating regularly. He didn't mention that he is the composer who popularized jazz as TV background music, who since 1958, has received 24 Academy Award nominations in movie, TV and recording fields and has won 12 of them for such melodies as Moon River, the score for Breakfast at Tiffany's, and Mr. Lucky, and has become one of Hollywood's most inventive composers.

His music is sophisticated, with a fresh, amusing mood and manner, it's highly personalized, and it's unorthodox. In recent films he has experimented with an autoharp; an electric calliope; a Japanese samisen, an instrument with a shrill quavering note foreign to Western ears; a piano deliberately tuned off-key; an amplified harmonica; a bass flute; a hoe-down fiddle; and imported African instruments, setting the mood colourfully, heightening suspense, speeding the action, and sometimes even putting over an actual part of the story musically.

Mancini and his music will be featured Thursday night, November 28th, at 9:30 p.m., when CBC-TV's Parade presents The Mancini Touch.

He's the son of a steelworker who used to play flute in his lunch-hour. Henry also learned flute and piano, and studied at the Juilliard School. After U.S. wartime service he joined the Glenn Miller-Tex Beneke Orchestra as pianist arranger, and met his wife, Ginny, who sang with the band. He continued to study composition and in 1953 moved into the music department of Universal-International Studios. During the next six years he composed and arranged for over 100 films, including The Glenn Miller Story.

Emerging from a barbershop one day he bumped into producer-director Blake Edwards, who impulsively asked him to write for a new TV show, Peter Gunn. Mancini's use of the jazz idiom on TV was an instant success, won him several awards, and triggered a long series of best-selling Mancini albums. Then motion pictures won him back, and, he says, "it was like taking off the lead shoes." Happy as a clam in his old stamping ground, Mancini has recently composed the music for Pink Panther and Charade.

CANADA IN 1963—a land of plenty, eyed enviously by other countries for its high standard of living; where “everyone” can afford a car, spacious living quarters, good food; where no one need go hungry or homeless; where even the shiftless and lazy are looked after by welfare organizations.

That could be one picture of Canada today. But there is another Canada, one that many of us might not recognize were we to see it.

Maurice Gorman is an unemployed iron miner who lives with his wife and 10 children on Bell Island, Newfoundland. When the mine in which he worked was abandoned, his income dropped from about $60 a week to $94 a month of welfare money. He wants to work, but no work is available to him.

Tom Paynter has a farm near Sussex, N.B., a farm he inherited from his father. He works hard, but the land is poor and unproductive, and his net income from a year's work is about $600, little reward for a man who has spent most of his 55 years at hard labor.

George Armstrong is a 31-year-old resident of Brantford, Ont. On his salary of $56 a week he is trying to support his wife and six children and dig his way out of a huge mound of accumulated debt. He admits the debt is his own fault; he couldn't resist the lure of buy-now-pay-later plans. But when the constant pressure of overdue payments began to threaten their marriage, the Armstrongs went to a counsellor for help. Now a social worker handles their money, and someday far off in the future they may be free of debt.

Harry Halverson is a fiercely independent Westerner who farms near Broadview, Sask. He and his wife live a near-pioneer existence, with no electricity, no running water, and few of the comforts usually taken for granted in 20th-century North American life. Superficially, Halverson seems well off, for he has 480 acres of land, a car, a tractor and some farm equipment. But much of the land is useless until it can be cleared and developed, the worn-out car, tractor and implements keep breaking down, and he even has to cart water in barrels from a distant spring,—a chore that takes up an hour every day. He needs capital to turn his farm into a productive unit, but he can never manage to scrape that capital together.

Harry Rayner, his wife and eight children live in a public housing development in Vancouver. He's an unskilled laborer who has been out of work, off and on, for nine of the past 18 years. The family has received aid from many public and private welfare groups through the years. Right now, Rayner feels fairly secure,—he has a job that pays $256 a month, and you wouldn't find a happier, more loving family anywhere. But with no trade or other skills, he will almost certainly be the first one let out if and when times get a little harder.

These five families will appear this week in a filmed report on CBC-TV's Horizon (Sunday, November 24), entitled Another Canada. Written by Richard Nielsen, it was directed by George Ronald, who also conducted the interviews for the program.

SPORTS

By Don
Wittman

CBC
Winnipeg
Sportscaster

POUNDING OUT a sports column in advance, at times, can be a rather difficult proposition, particularly when you possess a prediction record of zip for 669. Such is the situation this week in this guide to the television sports fan.

For example, on Saturday afternoon, football fans could be treated to one whale of a battle if neither the British Columbia Lions nor Saskatchewan Roughriders sweep the western final in two straight. If a deciding game is required to settle the western championship it will be seen on the CBC network beginning at 4:00 CST, 3:00 MST.

In the East, they declare a champion in a total-point series rather than in a best-of-three affair. The CBC Network will provide viewers Sunday with midfield seats in the second Hamilton-Ottawa battle. In this one, the three candidates representing the East in the balloting for the Canadian Schenley Awards will display their football talents. Russ Jackson of the Ottawa Roughriders has been nominated in two categories: outstanding ball-player and best Canadian. And to my way of thinking, if he wins the first, he has to be an automatic for the second, which in both situations would be unprecedented as a Canadian ball-player has never been chosen as the outstanding performer and no player has ever won two awards the same year. However, Jackson certainly has the qualifications for both awards this year. He was the leading passer in the east, and the man largely responsible for the Riders' second place finish.

Angelo Mosca of the Tiger-Cats is the eastern representative for Lineman of the Year honours. Mosca has never been noted as a "genteel" type, but this year number "68" for the Tiger-Cats has been particularly effective, at times performing on offense in addition to his defensive tackle chores.

Saturday night, it will be the regular NHL telecast, this week emanating from Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto, where Punch Imlach's crew takes on the last place Boston Bruins.

And rounding out the week-end viewing schedule on Sunday will be Sports International, of particular interest to the soccer buff and those who follow other sports more prevalent across the "pond."

Third Game - CFL Western Finals

Saskatchewan Roughriders

vs.

B.C. Lions

Will be seen today if it is played.
4:00 p.m. in Manitoba and Saskatchewan
3:00 p.m. in Alberta

Pre-empts programming shown for all network stations.

Al Richardson, left, CBC Farm Commentator of Edmonton, talks with Archie Hogg near his High River bird sanctuary. Mr. Hogg's private bird haven is seen Saturday on Countrytime.

Program Notes

NOVEMBER 24

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and add'l program information

A Song for You

Jose Poneira sings and plays the piano, with vocalist Maxine Ware, Leonard Breau, guitar, James Cordopal, bass, and Robert J. Gross, drums. Produced by Dave Ruskin.

I Love a Piano ..... Maxine
Heart of My Heart ..... Jose
12th Street Rag ..... Instrumental

CFL Eastern Final

Second game in Eastern Finals — Ottawa plays at Hamilton.

Sports International

A film resume of sporting events held during the previous week in all parts of the world.

Heritage

The Confirmation. Film about the teaching and pastoral care of candidates for confirmation in the Lutheran Church.

Country Calendar

Farm commentators, including Dave Innes of Regina, report on the outcome of the competitions at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair in Toronto.

The Sixties

Good Neighbourhood. Paul Martin went recently to receive a plaque commemorating 150 years of peace between Canada and the United States, but during his visit he had to discuss the bombing of a Canadian ship in an American port.

Should we have some more effective machinery to deal with difficulties between the two countries, something more like that which exists for the Common Market countries? Frank McGee, host.

Some of Those Days

This is the 20th in the series and it deals with the Early Twenties. Film clips show prominent personalities such as Leon Trotsky, Maxim Gorky, Lady Astor, the famous race horse Man O' War, The Chevrolet Brothers, the Dolly Sisters and Gertrude Lawrence. The Bluenose is shown under full sail.

With Thora Anders, Betty Hilker, Lorraine McAllister, Pat Morgan, Barney Potts and Lance Harrison and his Orchestra. Host is Bill Bellman.

Hazel

The Vanishing Hero. George's old classmate Zachary King pays a visit to the Baxters. Zachary's arrival would help construct a chain of communication with extra-terrestrial species.

CHAT WITH A DOLPHIN

causes a minor crisis in the household, until Hazel comes up with an old photograph and a Thanksgiving turkey to solve the problem.

The Ed Sullivan Show

Ed's guests include actor Troy Donahue and musical comedy star, Diahann Carroll.

Bonanza

Ponderosa Matador. A visiting senorita involves Hoss, Adam, and Little Joe in hilarious but dangerous hi-jinks with an angry bull.

Horizon

Few Canadians in the middle and upper income brackets have any idea of the extent of poverty in this country, or indeed any real appreciation of its nature and causes. Tonight, Horizon visits the poor in all parts of Canada. These are simply people who at present earn scarcely enough to keep body and soul together. Who are they? What are they?

Jane Russell stars Sunday at 11:20 p.m. in an Old West drama, Ballad for a Bad Man, on CBWT's Desilu Playhouse.

When dolphins swing their heads from side to side and emit ultrasonic boops, they can "see" through 20 feet of muddy water and estimate whether a certain fish would make a tasty meal. Man-made sonar isn't as smart, but in tests with man and dolphin Dr. Lilly hopes to find out how the dolphin sonar works and how man can develop and apply the same technique.

On Thursday night, November 28, the Natural Curiosity series on CBC Radio's Soundings will present a program about dolphins and porpoises at 9:00 p.m. local time. Speakers include Roger Conklin of the Seaquarium in Miami, and Dr. Max Dunbar of the department of marine science at McGill University.

Funeral Parlours

For Dogs and Cats —?

DURING THE Cuban crisis last year, when nuclear war was a very real possibility, more tinned dog food was sold by U.S. chain stores than any other single tinned product, including baby food, as a large segment of the stockpiling population made sure that pets wouldn't go hungry in an emergency, even if their families did.

This Monday night and next, November 25 and December 2, CBC-TV's Explorations looks into the billion-dollar business catering to pets, talks to pet owners, and tries to discover the motivations that keep the industry humming. The first program, titled The Affluent Kingdom, explores the big operation of feeding, training, breeding, and pampering the 60 million furred, feathered and scaly creatures on this continent which can be described as pets.

Part two, titled The Loved Ones, will consider some of the psychological and social implications of pets which now have their own funeral parlours and psychologists. Filmed in Vancouver and Los Angeles, the programs were written by William McCarthy and produced by Gordon Babineau.

Chez Helene

Helene teaches a song about a grey hen and her chicks entitled La Poule Grise est Pere de ses Petits Poussins, and tells a story about a grey hen and a fox.

Girl Talk

Guests: Joyce Davidson, TV commentator and publicist; Susan Kohner, motion picture star; and Patricia English, actress.

The girls discuss: whether children should learn about sex from their parents or their school teachers; the effects television, theatre and films have on a child's sexual behaviour.

CBXT-Gale Storm Show

Sing, Susanna, Sing. Susanna sings a hit recording Dark Moon and adlibs a calypso number to uncover a Carribean revolution.

CBWT-Gale Storm Show

Night in Monte Carlo. Susanna and Nugey visit Monte Carlo and accidentally drop money on one of the gambling tables. Comedy results.

CBXT-Love That Bob

A popular comedy series about a young photographer (played by Bob Cummings) whose complicated bachelor life is further complicated by a widowed sister and her teenage son and a competent but not exactly glamorous studio assistant called Schultz. Today, Chuck falls for his English teacher.

Ladies First

1. Gerdine Crawford demonstrates how to make a shoe box bag.
2. Ruth Dyker, home economist, gives kitchen hints.

Take Thirty

Guest is actress Heather Sears. She talks with co-host Paul Soles about her career and her family.

This Living World

Steve Bloomer talks about the migration of birds and the hibernation of animals. Kokomo Jr. is a guest. Viewers are asked to suggest a name for a cheetah.

CBWT-Puppet Playhouse

This week Henrietta decides to enter a cake making contest, first prize being a trip to Spain. Will she bake the winning cake? Switch on and find out. Don Browne-Wilkinson, producer.

CBXT-Gateway

Co-hosts Colin MacLean and Jim Mitchell welcome special guest Alis-tair McLean, director of the British Travel Bureau, who will talk about the forthcoming year of celebration of the 400th anniversary of Shakespeare's birth.

The first episode in this week's exciting Tom Terrific cartoon serial will be seen. Producer, Dave Smiley.

CBWT-Reach for the Top

The teams competing will be the Garden City Collegiate vs. a team from the Red River School Division. This team will include one member from each of the following schools: Ste. Jean Collegiate in Ste. Jean Baptiste; St. Joseph's Collegiate in Otterburne; Ste. Pierre Collegiate in Ste. Pierre; and Ste. Agathe Collegiate in Ste. Agathe.

The new host on the series will be Bill Guest.

Garry Moore Show

Garry's guests include: singer, Rosemary Clooney; comedian Bill Cosby; and comedienne singer Dorothy Loudon.

Playdate

The Red Skelton Hour. Another hour of comedy with the master clown and pantomime artist, Red Skelton.

Inquiry

A report on topics and subjects of national concern, and international epics relevant to Canada. Host is Laurier La Pierre.

Explorations

Pets. Part 1. The Affluent Kingdom. A look at the big business of feeding, training, breeding, and pampering the more than 60 million pets inhabiting North America. The services examined include canned dog food, dog beauty parlours, and dog funeral parlours.

CBWT-An Age of Kings

The Road to Shrewsbury. (Henry IV, Part 1, Acts 3, 4 and 5.) The conspiracy against Henry comes to a head in open battle. Prince Hal and Falstaff fight valiantly on the side of the King.

(Repeat of last Wednesday's feature.)

CBXT-Thriller

The Closed Cabinet. A 300-year-old act of murder and suicide is cause for a curse set on a medieval English family. Two Americanized brothers and a pretty 19-year-old cousin set about to break the curse and answer the challenge—"but it will pass the wisdom of man to fix it or the wit of man to discover it."

Program Notes

NOVEMBER 26

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and add'l program information

National School Telecasts

The Ferment of Communism. Students are given a very general introduction to Communism. As students move from 1917 through the various phases of Soviet rule into the post World War 2 period they will realize that Communism is not a static form of government or an unchanging creed. They will see that the ideology means several things depending upon time, place, circumstances, and point of view.

Girl Talk

Guests: Sylvia Lyons, wife of columnist Leonard Lyons; Ann Pinchot, writer; and Elaine Steward, film actress. The subject will be bringing children up in the city or the country.

CBWT—Gale Storm Show

Stop, Thief! Susanna falls for a phony Italian movie star who is actually an international jewel thief.

The situation becomes critical when she meets the real cinema hero.

CBWT—Gale Storm Show

Desirable Alien. Susanna frees a handcuffed spy whom she believes is not guilty.

CBXT—Love That Bob

Bob Becomes a Genius. Bob plays hard to get for a glamorous but temperamental motion picture actress who wants him to photograph her.

Ladies First

1. Co-hosts Jo Everett and Ernie Poscente introduce Elsie Kostash, who continues her current basketry project, a beautiful woven wine server.

2. Jo and Ernie visit a remarkable recreation park in Legal, Alta.

Producer, Gloria Germain.

Take Thirty

Dr. Takuo Matsumoto, a survivor of Hiroshima, and author Laurens Van der Post, a former Japanese prisoner of war, discuss nuclear weapons. Also interviewed, Dr. Norman Z. Alcock of the Canadian Peace Research Institute.

Also a look at Christmas cards distributed by UNICEF Canadian Save The Children Fund.

Fireball XL-5

Space Monster. Steve and the crews of two space ships are trapped on the planet Monotane by a space monster. Their situation is desperate until they receive help from an unsuspected source.

Glynis

The Bodyguards. A case of mistaken identity, too many bodyguards, and an explosive confession almost result in murder. Starring Glynis Johns in a mystery-comedy.

CBXT—An Age of Kings

Band of Brothers. (Henry V, Acts 4 and 5). On the eve of battle at Agincourt, assailed by responsibilities and qualms, Henry V finds it very bitter to be King but the next morning's battle goes well for Henry, and he returns in triumph to London. Peace between France and England is negotiated and sealed with Henry's courtship and marriage to Princess Katherine of France.

Ben Casey

My Love, My Love. Dr. Garry puts up a valiant fight against the disease of multiple sclerosis which has attacked him, but wages a losing battle against his growing affection for his patient and his disintegrating marriage. (Originally scheduled for last week.)

Document

The Peace Makers. A report on the peace movements and the people who lead them. Included among those interviewed are Dr. Bertrand Russell, Herman Kahn, and Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review. Host and interviewer is John Freeman, editor of London's New Statesman.

Quest

The World of Kurt Weill in Song. Narrative and songs from the work of the German-American composer of The Threepenny Opera, The Seven Deadly Sins, Street Scenes, One Touch of Venus, etc.

Performers are Martha Schlamme and Will Holt, whose Broadway show, The World of Kurt Weill has been a New York success for several months and has recently been commercially recorded. Video-taped in a Toronto Club.

Quest Presents Off-Broadway Show

THE OFF-BROADWAY success, The World of Kurt Weill in Song, featuring excerpts from the works of the famed German-American composer of The Three-Penny Opera, Street Scene, The Seven Deadly Sins, Knickerbocker Holiday, Lady in the Dark, Down in the Valley, and One Touch of Venus was originally scheduled for a two-week run. It lasted five months, was commercially recorded, and closed the middle of last month only because its stars, Martha Schlamme, internationally celebrated folksinger and actress, and her partner, actor-singer Will Holt, had concert commitments. It will re-open in New York in April.

Meanwhile, CBC-TV viewers will be able to enjoy its exciting blend of Weill narrative, song and music, and the charming personalities of its stars, when Quest presents them on Tuesday night, November 26. The show was tape-recorded before an audience in the

CBWT—Gale Storm Show

Show Biz. Susanna meets an old family friend, and ex-vaudevillian, when the Ocean Queen puts into the tropical isle of Fiji.

CBXT—Love That Bob

A Date for Margaret. Bob wants his sister Margaret to have a date for the Photographers' Ball and goes ahead to arrange one, only to discover that she is very capable of securing her own date.

Ladies First

1. Mat Gauer shows us how to bake a fruit cake.

2. Mary Liz Bayer will be back with a topic of local interest.

Scarlett Hill

The different characters found in a rooming-house in a typical small Canadian community provide the backdrop for serialized stories of romance, drama and comedy.

Take Thirty

Agota Gabor gives Paul Soles the last of her fall series of Latin American dance lessons. Paul talks to Evelyn Nielson Wood, founder of the Reading Dynamics Institute in Washington, about the secrets of rapid reading. Also, a photo story by Ben Shek of Black Donald, a town built on a graphite mine.

CBXT—Calling All Children

Host Jim Mitchell introduces young performers from Edmonton and Northern Alberta in the final show of this series which will feature the winners of each of the previous shows. Producer, Gloria Germain.

CBWT—An Age of Kings

The New Conspiracy. (Henry IV, Part 2, Acts 1 and 2). Continuing a series of Shakespearean dramas. Today, the spark of rebellion is set off again. Falstaff, now a "hero," returns with Prince Hal to their madcap life at the Boar's Head Tavern.

CBXT—Gateway

1. Visits the dress rehearsal of the Civic Opera production, Can Can.

2. The regular Wednesday feature, Farm Focus with CBC farm commentators Al Richardson and Dick Bocking.

3. The Alberta exhibits at the Royal Winter Fair will be featured.

Producer, Don McRae.

CBXT—Reach for the Top

Quizmaster Colin MacLean moderates as eight youngsters representing Edmonton and district high schools compete for prizes and awards. This week, the winning team in Section 1 will compete with the winning team in Section 2. Producer, Dave Smiley.

Mr. Fix-It

Peter Whittall and Rex Loring show how to re-cover a kitchen sink. They also show different supports for coffee tables, including iron legs and wooden stand.

Red River Jamboree

Songs, stories and dances which create an authentic picture of the Canadian West. Host Stu Phillips, Peggy Neville, The Altones, The Valley Beaux and Belles, and Ted Komar and the Selkirk Settlers are featured. Tonight on Red River Jamboree, we look at the life and music of the Mexican range rider. Guest is Georges LaFleche.

Perry Mason

The Case of the Festive Felon. A dying woman establishes a $1,000,000 gift for her faithful nurse, and in so doing she unwittingly sets the stage for a murder.

Festival

The Slave of Truth. A 90-minute musical based on Moliere's La Misanthrope, with the English translation by Miles Malleon. The original music and lyrics by Stan Daniels. Produced by Norm Campbell. Starring Toby Robins, James Douglas, and Leo Ciceri.

Alceste, a despiser of the empty conventions of social life in 17th Century France, vies for the love of one of the most typical representatives, the beautiful coquette, Celimene.

Cast: Toby Robins as Celimene; James Douglas as Alceste; Leo Ciceri as Philinte; Michael Learned as Eliante; Marigold Charlesworth as Arsinoe; Norman Welsh as Oronte and others include Joseph Shaw as Clitandre; Leo Leyden as Acaste; William Osler as Cleon; and Tom Kneebone as Dubois.

CBXT—Desilu Playhouse

Happy Hill. A spine-tingling drama in which a woman is torn between profound concern for her escaped convict husband and the safety of her home and son.

Program Notes

NOVEMBER 28

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and addit'l program information

National School Telecasts

Our Way-of Life. Developed with-in the basic democratic freedoms.

Girl Talk

Guests: Pauline Triger, designer; Romola Metzner, fashion editor; and Ilka Chase, author. Topics discussed will be fashion and the part it plays in the lives of women who try to be fashionable on a low budget, also new fashions and hair-styles.

CBXT-Gale Storm Show

Hit in Tahiti. When a movie production crew books passage aboard the Ocean Queen, Susanna is ordered to arrange a screen test for the wife of the Steamship line board chairman.

Country Calendar

A repeat of Sunday's telecast. Dave Innes will commentate on the interesting agricultural aspects of the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

CBWT-Gale Storm Show

Made in Hong Kong. Susanna and Nugue cause unforeseen complications for Captain Huxley when the Ocean Queen puts into the oriental port of Hong Kong.

CBXT-Love That Bob

Bob Gives Up Girls. Bob discovers that his nephew is imitating him in every manner, including the dating of girls. He decides to give up girls to set a good example for his nephew.

Ladies First

Co-hosts Jo Everett and Ernie Poscente welcome Madelaine Dunkley who continues instruction on how to make a fur hat out of lynx.

Maureen Whiteley visits Ladies First in the Music Room.

Take Thirty

Lotta Dempsey interviews Mrs. Tommy Douglas in her Ottawa apartment.

CBXT-St. Lawrence North

Turlette. A delightful film built in the form of the Dance Song, The Turlette, interpreting the ways of the people who live in the old farms and villages in the enchanting valley of the Whirlpool River.

CBWT-Biography

Wendell Willkie. The unusual story of a man who had never dreamed of being President of the United States, but in a few incredible months sought and nearly won the Presidency.

CBXT-West on Five

The Serial

Son of a Hundred Kings. Episode 10. The mystery of Ludar's background is solved, but Ludar has disappeared, and Matilda faces up to her mistakes. Lockie MacGregor sends for Clyde. Ludar, on his way to the Klondike to hunt for gold, encounters Calamity Hull. Happiness lies ahead for Catherine and Clyde. Matilda welcomes a wanderer back home and Billy Christian goes to work on another invention.

Cast: Martin Morton as Ludar; Ruth Springford as Matilda; Robert Christie as Lockie; Bruce Grey as Clyde; Henry Comor as Calamity Hull; Patricia Farmer as Catherine; and Drew Thompson as Billy.

Grindl

The Counterspy. Grindl is temporarily employed by a nuclear physicist and becomes involved in intrigue with three foreign spies.

Parade

The Mancini Touch. The music of Henry Mancini, conducted by the composer. Guests are Joyce Sullivan and The Alan Lund Dancers.

CBWT-Thriller

A Third for Pinochle. Two busy-body old maids obtain a permanent third for cards, thanks to their passion for watching the neighbours through a powerful set of binoculars.

CBXT-An Age of Kings

Band of Brothers. (Henry V, Acts 4 and 5.) On the eve of the battle of Agincourt, assailed by responsibilities and qualms, Henry V finds it very bitter to be a King, but the next morning's battle goes well for Henry, and he returns in triumph to London. Peace between France and England is negotiated and sealed with Henry's courtship and marriage to Princess Katherine of France. (Repeat of Tuesday night's 6:45 p.m. episode.)

Paul Soles and Anna Cameron are host and hostess weekdays of Take Thirty, an afternoon show of interesting interviews and features.

Bushman, Ronald Colman, John Barrymore, Rudolph Valentino, James Dean, Clark Gable, Cary Grant, Errol Flynn, and Rock Hudson.

The Defenders

The Crowd Pleaser. Lawrence and Kenneth Preston defend a veteran prize-fighter, who has accidentally killed a man who has been paying attentions to the fighter's wife.

Telescope

The Big Letdown. The story of parachuting and sky diving as a sport. Host, Fletcher Markle. Director, Stuart Nutter.

AROUND CBC

in 1358, though instruments of the flageolet type were used long before then. Recorders are made in many sizes, from the huge great bass to the tiny shrill soprano; we will make use of most of them.

The viols have their origins in the 15th century Spanish guitar, the vihuela, a bowed version of which became the viol of 1500-1800. They retained many characteristics of the guitar, the six strings tuned in fourths and a third, the frets round the neck, and the flat back, unlike their louder more brilliant cousins of the violin family, which derive from the medieval fiddle family, and never had frets. The viols were firmly established by the end of the 15th century, and came to be made in several sizes: all were played held downwards between the knees like the 'cello, hence the name viola da gamba, or "leg viol," which is applicable to all sizes of viol so played. The underhand bow-grip produces a softer tone than is possible with the overhand grip of the violin family. In the picture you see Dr. Peggie Sampson's very beautiful and much ornamented bass viol, as well as a small descant viol.

The spinet is a small, simple harpsichord with strings plucked by leather plectra, instead of struck by hammers as in the pianoforte. It dates from the early 16th century, although primitive versions of this instrument are known to have been used before then. It has only one stop, a very useful one imitating the sound of the lute.

At present, then, the consort consists of singer, recorders, viols, Krummhorn, and occasional percussion, to which will be added soon another Krummhorn, a tenor viol, and a dulcian. It is hoped to increase the number of players and singers as the occasion demands, and ultimately to use other instruments such as the regal, sackbut, psaltery, and medieval fiddle.

Maureen Forrester Sings Mahler Cycle

THE VIBRANT, elementary colours and homespun texture of Mahler's Songs of a Wayfarer seem made for contralto Maureen Forrester's warm personality and rich, strong voice, as many critics have remarked. Her musical expression is so ideally suited to the intimacy and deep emotion of most lieder that she is recognized internationally as one of the world's foremost interpreters.

She will sing the Mahler cycle and two Beethoven songs when she appears with the CBC Symphony Orchestra on November 24 at 2:30 p.m. local time, in CBC Radio's Sunday Concert.

The orchestra will be directed by her husband, Canadian violinist-conductor Eugene Kash, recently named academic administrator and general manager of the National Youth Orchestra, with headquarters in Toronto, where the Kashes moved from New York with their four children last month. For the past two seasons Kash has conducted the Youth Concerts of the Fairfield County Symphony, Connecticut.

Miss Forrester recorded this concert on the wing. Hers is one of the busiest schedules of any concert and opera singer—she gives some 90 performances a year all over the world, and has such zest for life and good health that she returns from each arduous tour as blooming as when she started, and is usually full of regrets that she wasn't able to work in more appearances during her absence. Singing is such a joyful part of her life that she considers it as much recreation as work. She is spending most of this month in Italy, singing at La Scala, Milan, and in other major Italian cities. She was there on tour in June, and since then has sung in Toronto, Germany, Austria, Puerto Rico, the Festival of the Arts in Tatamagouche, N.S., Kansas, Minnesota, and many other places.

Songs of a Wayfarer, inspired by a hectic, ill-starred love affair in Mahler's early 20s with a soprano at the Cassell Opera, where he was conductor, describes with moving imagery the emotions of a rejected lover wandering alone through the world, and allows the accompaniment greater importance and opulence than is usually the case with lieder. Mahler wrote the text himself. He is obviously the one described as "driven forth by the blue eyes of his love" who finds consolation in the glory and warmth of nature.

A master lyricist, Mahler had the gift for grasping an emotion, however subtle, and making it live vividly in a setting for the voice. Because he was so busy making a living, he hadn't the necessary leisure time to write as many symphonies as he wanted to, so he took advantage of brief interludes in his schedule to dash off symphonic fragments shaped into songs with lush orchestral frames. Songs of a Wayfarer, published 80 years ago, was the first of several Mahler cycles that rank among the musical elect.

The Endless Echo Now on CBC Radio

JEAN-ROBERT RÉMILLARD, a Quebec farmer and one of the country's most distinguished young playwrights, was introduced to his first English-speaking audience last March, when CBC-TV's Festival series presented his universal tale of love and hate, The Endless Echo, in a translation by Montreal writer Alvin Goodman. Since then Goodman has adapted the play for radio, and it will be heard on CBC Sunday Night, November 24, at 8:05 local time.

The Endless Echo is a modern version of the Eurydice legend, set on a contemporary French-Canadian farm in Quebec, and seen through the eyes of a group of unsophisticated rural people in whom dormant passions are aroused by an unusual visitor from Europe. Hercules Giguère, on whose farm the story takes place, is an earthy man, a frequenter of the local tavern, who, since his beloved wife died, has apathetically turned over the upbringing of his four pretty young daughters to his sister-in-law, Artemis, an ardent Puritan with a deep fear and hatred of men, who has managed to instill this same feeling in the eldest daughter, Eurydice.

The second daughter, Bibiane, is too sensual to accept her aunt's philosophy, and longs to escape from the strict confines of her home. Already showing signs of siding with Bibiane is another daughter, Hélène, but the fourth daughter, Ephigenia, is still too young to feel rebellious.

The mood of the little isolated family changes abruptly and finally gets out of control when Hercules brings home a new hired man, a perceptive, artistic Rumanian named Orfa Romanescu.

So vividly real is Rémillard's portrait of a family locked in a bitter conflict of love and hate, that following the play's première on the CBC's French TV network, farmers in widely separated areas of Quebec wrote to say "you took that story right out of our community."

Rémillard's swift success as a playwright dates from the production of his first TV drama seven years ago. He says he'd prefer writing for the theatre than for TV "because the theatre is less thankless . . . running after producers becomes irksome. It becomes humiliating. As the father of a family, I expect my work to pay a bit. Thus, I work for TV."

The Chuckwagon rolls to a halt while The Rhythm Pals sing a few western ballads at 11:20 each weekday morning on CBW.

CBC SUNDAY NIGHT

Music From Japan

MENTION JAPANESE music, and most people will immediately think of quaint, sing-song melodies played on a variety of weird and wonderful instruments, plucked or strummed by kimono-clad, almond-eyed maidens.

The picture is accurate as far as it goes, but it includes only a small portion of musical activity in Japan.

Consider, for instance, that today Tokyo supports more full-sized professional symphony orchestras than any other city in the world, playing Beethoven, Brahms, Bartok and Boulez to large, enthusiastic audiences.

Traditional Japanese music co-exists with Western music in present-day Japan, and there is very little overlapping of the two types. The old music of the country, some of it dating from the seventh century, is closely linked with its particular function in Japanese life, and is rarely heard apart from its various religious, ceremonial, dramatic or festive occasions. European and American music, or works of that type by Japanese composers, do not compete for attention with the traditional music of Japan. Thus the Western emphasis on change, development and "progress" has had little or no effect on the very old and elaborately organized classical music, which is carefully preserved by thousands of active practitioners of the art.

Some examples of contemporary Japanese music will be presented on CBC Sunday Night, November 24 at 11:05 p.m., on transcriptions obtained through CBC International Service. The program will include Canzone da Sonare, for piano and percussion, by Shin-ichi Matsushita; a violin concerto by Michio Mamiya; and two works by Tohru Takemitsu—Requiem for Strings, and Sky, Horse, Death, the latter being musique concrète.

Recorded music prepared by Dan Wood.

1st and 2nd Movements of Symphony No. 4 ..... Bruckner

7:35 p.m.—Recital in Miniature

Christine Mather, bassoon and Ada Bronstein, piano. Producer, Benjamin Horch. A special recital that pays tribute to Winnipeg's nationally and internationally celebrated composer Madame Eckhardt-Gramatte. The latter's concerto for bassoon and orchestra is featured in a new realization of the orchestra part for the piano.

The original 1950 version was commissioned by the Vienna Academy of Music for the American bassoonist, Gloria Soloway, who was at that time, studying with the distinguished bassoonist and teacher Karl Gehlberger. Christine Mather, who was also a pupil of Gehlberger's says, "I feel it is appropriate that I as another of the small company of lady bassoonists should play this as a small personal tribute to Madame Eckhardt-Gramatte on the anniversary of her 10th year in Canada.

Dungeonette Room of Toronto's Casa Loma. Production is by Harvey Hart.

Miss Schlamme is an Austrian who went to England as a refugee, became a singing success, and later expanded her horizons to include almost the whole world, with New York as a base. She was a folk-singer of renown with a repertoire in more than a dozen languages when she was offered a starring role in The World of Kurt Weill in Song, which, she feels, has been a turning-point in her career. "It was the first time I had a real chance to act," she says, "and it helped me move away from folk music—a field I now find terribly limiting. I've never considered myself a folk-singer in the accepted sense. What I always wanted was to achieve the highest possible skill as a singer and still retain some ethnic quality. Though I've done a lot of Yiddish songs, I don't sing them the way my grandmother sang them. I feel I have to bring to them a more universal flavour."

Kurt Weill was a tiny tadpole of a man with big eyes behind thick glasses and not much hair, who wrote his first opera at 13, and at 18 was an opera conductor in his native Germany. After a three-year fling at writing esoteric music, Weill began to concentrate on composing for the theatre, on bridging the gap between grand opera and the singspiel, and within a few years was one of the most talked-about figures in European music, largely on the basis of his Three-Penny Opera. In 1933 Hitler branded him a Kultur Bolshevist and he left the Third Reich, moving to the U.S. two years later, where he soon had one musical hit after another, mainly because of his uncanny ability to assimilate the American viewpoint and to handle all the forms of musical theatre with the freedom, artistry and sound common sense of a good architect. He insisted that he despised posterity, but since he died in 1950 at 50, posterity has shown no signs of neglecting his vivid, brash, sentimental and unconventional contributions to musical theatre.

Les Patineurs Ballet
Music ..... Meyerbeer-Lambert

11:00 p.m.—The Music of Handel

Alan Sangster introduces recorded music of Handel.

Heroic Music for Organ and Orchestra

From Acis and Galatea: "O Ruderer than the Cherry"

Concerto in D Major for two trumpets and orchestra

From Alceste: "Enjoy the Sweet Elysian Grove"

Concerto Grosso in F major, op. 3, No. 4a

German aria: "Vain care at what betides"

Trio Sonata in G major

10:05 p.m.—Parade of Choirs

The Rosh Pina Synagogue Choir, directed by Sarah Udow, presents a program of traditional and contemporary folksongs that represent both the Judea of the Old Testament and the present day State of Israel. Contemporary folk music in Israel today can hardly have escaped the influences of art music. For this reason they constitute a peculiar musical phenomena that musicologists have classified as "civilized folk song" in contrast to aboriginal folk song, as might, for example be typified in the folk music of the Yemenites. ## THE PEACEMAKERS those for whom war is totally wrong and who believe they must bear witness to this truth; those who believe the only hope is constant pressure for those small steps that may prove acceptable politically.

"It is a conflict between moral beliefs and pragmatic possibility," says King. "Whether we accept either view or reject both, the peace movement does have something to say to us. It has been called 'the aura of saints, the stigma of fools.' This may or may not be true. But the guilty fact remains that, while we all want peace, few of us do much about it."

The Peacemakers includes interviews with Bertrand Russell, perhaps the most-publicized leader of any peace group; Canon L. John Collins, the Church of England clergyman who is chairman of the Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament; Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review; Dr. Seymour Melman, professor at Columbia University and author of The Peace Race and A Strategy for American Security; Dr. Paul Goodman, psychologist and writer; Dr. Norman Alcock, former nuclear physicist and founder of the Canadian Peace Research Institute; Dr. Donald Soper, well-known British clergyman and evangelist; and Herman Kahn, the brilliant U.S. military strategist and author of Thinking About the Unthinkable and other books on nuclear armaments and strategy.

The program will also include excerpts from The Brig, an off-Broadway revue with a bitterly satirical anti-war basis, which features actors Julian Beck and Judith Molina.

While various peace movements have been instituted in many different parts of the world, it is perhaps in Britain that they have been most active and received the most widespread recognition. Large amounts of press coverage have been given to those who march, or sit, under the now-familiar emblem of peace—a combination of the semaphore signals for "N" and "D"—which was devised by the Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament. The CND, which organized the annual marches to and from Aldermaston to London, advocates legal means to persuade the public of the rightness of disarmament. The closely-related Committee of 100 put its emphasis on civil disobedience and highly publicized jail sentences in making its point. The newly-created Bertrand Russell Peace Foundation aims at developing a "community of discussion" through radio, press, films and other media, and to investigate the causes and eliminate the risks of war.

No movements of equivalent size or influence have made their appearance in the United States, but this, according to Norman Cousins, "does not mean that the American people are disinterested in peace questions, or uninvolved; but they are involved in ways consistent with the total pattern of life in America. Generally speaking, we don't have mass movements on any subject."

COOK'S TOUR

with Mat Gauer

RECIPES FEATURED ON
"LADIES FIRST" EACH THURSDAY

TURKEY A L'ORIENTELE

- 1 cup rice
- 2 tbsp. butter
- 1-1½ lbs. boned turkey
- 1 cup turkey pan dripping
- 1 turkey liver or 4 chicken livers
- ¼ cup currants
- ½ cup pine nuts (or pistachio nuts)

Brown rice in butter. Pour in 1½ cups water and cook until water is absorbed, adding more if necessary to cook. Saute liver in butter and chop coarsely. Add, with currants and nuts, to the dripping in pan and pour over turkey and rice. Bake at 400° about 15 minutes.

ESH EL SHRAYA

(The Palace Bread)

- 5 slices white bread—
crusts removed
- ½ lb. honey

Soak bread in honey for at least ½ hour. Put into baking dish, piling slices evenly on one another. Bake at 300° for 45 minutes. Cool and chill. Slice to serve. Serve with pouring cream. Serves 4.

The Slave of Truth

A man who cannot tell a lie provokes merriment
in the FESTIVAL presentation of November 27

A MUSICAL VERSION of Molière's comedy masterpiece, Le Misanthrope, in an English translation by Miles Malleson, will be presented on CBC-TV's Festival on Wednesday, November 27, under the title, The Slave of Truth. The adaptation, music and lyrics are by Stanley Daniels, young Toronto composer-lyricist and frequent contributor to the annual Toronto revue, Spring Thaw. Production is by Norman Campbell.

Making their first appearances in singing roles on television will be Toby Robins as the young, provokingly lovely and witty Célimène, who receives the polite world of courtiers in her salon, but can't quite disguise the thinness of her varnish; James Douglas as Alceste, an insistent sincere young man in love with Célimène, a man who can't endure the affectations of court and who tells the blunt truth always, often with calamitous results; Leo Ciceri as his friend Philinte; and with Michael Learned, Marigold Charlesworth, Norman Welsh, Joseph Shaw and Leo Leyden in other roles.

Alceste alternates between jealousy of the courtiers surrounding his lady, and impatience with her for putting up with them. Finally he insists that she abandon the world of fashion. She refuses. He thinks this calls for drastic action. So brilliant is Molière's characterization of Alceste that the laughter he evokes carries with it a dash of admiration.
